

A Catholic Lady

The Catholic lady dresses modestly to express her Christian dignity. She takes seriously her responsibility to learn her Faith and to pass it on to the next generation. She fosters a prayer life which includes honoring the great Mother of God, the Virgin Mary. A Catholic lady is discrete and trustworthy. She does not gossip. She never lies. She respects her body and the great privilege of her gender. She remains sober and alert. She honors her ancestors and her parents. She will not lose herself in the secular world. She strives not to judge others, and always to lift up those around her. She embraces her vocation in life, answering God's call to become a wife, a mother, or perhaps a sister or nun. She will be a leader among her peers. To whatever state God calls her, she lives for others and she lives for Christ.
